County concerned about new reports on acid rain threat

Some councillors on Haliburton County council want explanations from the Ministry of Environment concerning recent reports that say acid rain is affecting the area's foliage, as well as lakes.

Murray Fearrey, reeve of Dysart et al and spokesman for the water levels committee said at a county council meeting last Wednesday that "we're not doing enough" about the acid rain problem. Fearrey was particularly concerned about "conflicting reports" of the effects of acid rain from daily newspapers.

"We're not getting to the proper people," he said. "I'm not sure what the answer is, but we should know what's being done from the Ministry of the Environment."

During the summer, Dr. Sam Linzon, head of the phytotoxicology division of the resources branch of the Ministry of Environment, told county council that there is no direct proof that acid rain has any effect on terrestrial vegetation.

But recent findings show that acid rain is affecting vegetable crops and forests, and a team of Canadian and U.S. scientists have said the environmental damage is spread over a larger area than was first thought.

"Our very future is at stake, and if this gets into the forests, then we'll really be in trouble," commented Fearrey. He added that the county should request that Linzon return and explain the situation more fully, in light of the more recent reports.

Lutterworth Reeve Ron Gambell, felt the county "should really put a push on" the ministries involved to spend more time and money on the project and gathering and collating information.

Stanhope Deputy-Reeve Elgin Stouffer pointed out that the MOE has a "completely reversed stand" on the effects of acid rain since the summer. "We've got to give these people some direction," he said.

Council made no formal decision on the matter.

CAS wants 10 percent, council asked to object

The Kawartha Haliburton Children's Aid Society is considering raising its fees 10 percent to cover a bank overdraft it has incurred over the past year.

The Society, which serves Haliburton County, has been the subject of controversy since county council discovered several unusual business practices by the Society in June. Among them were charges that foster parents sat in on budget meetings and voted to decide how much money they should be paid, that cheques for amounts as large as $30,000 have been written bearing only one signature, and the Society has loaned money to employees for the purchase of cars.

Council's representative on the CAS committee, Meredith Amm, reported to county council last week that the Society is now considering asking the counties it serves to pay a 10 percent increase for the services. The county currently pays the Society $10,400 a year. The fee is based on population and use.

Amm advised council to "refuse" to pay the extra amount because he said, "I don't think we're receiving 10 percent more services." Amm added that the Society is "way over budget." Amm accused the Society of "discriminating spending without authority." He added that he was not alleging that the Society was spending illegally.

Lutterworth Deputy Reeve, Glynne Lewis, referred to a recent article in the Globe and Mail concerning overspending in Children's Aid Societies, pointing out that the practice has become "extremely excessive." He said committee meetings of the Society tend to be "clouded" whenever there are a greater number of citizen appointees on the committee than municipal, a situation which currently exists in the Kawartha/Haliburton Society.

"It's an empire that does deserve examination," Lewis said.

Amm said that at the last meeting of the CAS committee, foster parents "corrected" the practice of sitting in on meetings when discussing money by declaring "a conflict of interest."

"It's certainly of advantage to the Association that

Jim Harrison, Haliburton County's Warden for 1979, addressed an audience of county officials, local politicians and friends last Saturday at the traditional Warden's Banquet. The outgoing warden cited the adoption of the planning strategy as the major achievement at the county level this year. Others who spoke at the gathering included MPP John Eakins and MP Bill Scott.

Official plan still several years away

Warden sees strategy as major achievement

The adoption of the Planning Strategy has been the biggest single accomplishment of county council in the last year, according to outgoing warden Jim Harrison.

Speaking at a banquet last Saturday to mark the impending conclusion of his one year term in office, Harrison cited the strategy as an important document for the future of the county. And in a telephone interview Monday night, the Stanhope reeve said he hoped county council would "continue on and make a more comprehensive study of the whole county."

The planning strategy "is an umbrella policy," Harrison said. "That's all it is and that's all it's meant for." He said municipalities within the county "are not tied to it" and can still make their own decisions about planning, a flexibility which he sees as positive.

Asked why council chose to push for the strategy rather than an official plan, Harrison said his "interpretation is that the thing is going to be done in stages to make sure that, instead of doing a complete (plan) and having to turn around and amend (it) a dozen and one times, ...doing it in stages, you will iron it out as you go..."

Harrison said the Ministry of Housing thought the planning strategy might remain in effect for ten or 15 years, but that "that's not (council's) intent." He said he hoped that "within the next five or six years approximately," the county would have an official plan, and that the next step in the process is "to do a lake study."

The warden said he would not say turning the strategy into an official plan integrating the rest of the county with Dysart et al, which already has an official plan, "is not going to cost more money" but that the county is hoping "to get a little help" from various government departments.

Besides working to continue the planning process, Harrison said the "biggest challenge at the present time is to get more employment within the county (through) clean industry." And the Economic Development Commission, which was expanded to nine members this year and which is currently working to draft a plan of action "is going to have a big bearing on it, that's for sure," the warden said.

The commission has been working on a one year mandate, and it is not yet clear whether it will continue in its present form (three members of county council, three Chamber members, and three ratepayers) but Harrison said experience this year has shown "where there's strengths and weaknesses within (the commission), and I would hope that something of this nature could continue on."

The warden said the position "is a challenge at any time" but that he could not pinpoint any specific frustrations in his term. He noted, however, that the office forces you to be "quite out a bit. You deprive your family by sitting in the warden's chair, that's for sure."

Harrison said he would "have no idea at all" as to who his successor might be, but that if it were offered to him again, he'd turn it down. "One year at a time is enough," he said. "It takes a lot of time, more than the public really knows about."

He stressed, though, that "it's a damn nice honour to be chosen as warden of the county."

Harrison is the third person in his family to sit on county council, and the second to serve as its warden.

Economic development commission sets down plans

by Joe Banks

The Haliburton County Economic Development Commission approved a long range plan at a meeting last Thursday.

The plan, the subject of much change and debate among the commission during the past few months, outlines the long term "plan of action" the commission hopes to follow to attract new business to the county.

The document was prepared by commission director John Hogg, and contains the commission's basic purpose, issues and constraints, major goals, its organization, proposed major actions and plans of an initial annual programme.

The commission's basic purpose, the document says, is "to encourage and assist viable economic development in Haliburton County consistent with the long term best interest of the county as a whole. Economic development encompasses industrial, commercial, institutional and recreational development."

Effect on grants could hurt local taxpayers

County objects to new factors

Haliburton County council is objecting to the implementation of the province's new equalization factors until the government can guarantee there will be little or no change in the grant structure beyond 1980.

The factors, which were released in the Ontario Gazette last July, are intended to bring about equity in taxation and transfer payments throughout the province. The province has said the resource equalization grant structure for 1980 will not change, but council is concerned that the situation could be altered in the long run.

"Looking ahead to 1981," Reeve Murray Fearrey told council, "there's a possibility that education grants will go down. We should object before the province tells us what will happen in the long term."

Council noted that rural areas with a high degree of agricultural assessment and a low degree of industry could have increased shares of educational and regional costs.

"Based on increases and undue burden that is known in rural municipalities," the final resolution read, "the council of Haliburton County must object until a program is set out by the government of the Province of Ontario that goes beyond the short-term promise and commitments for the term 1980." Copies of the letter will be sent to John Eakins, M.P.P. for Victoria/Haliburton, the Minister of Revenue, the Treasurer of Ontario, the Premier of Ontario and the Ontario Municipal Board.

Director Murray Fearrey pointed out that the commission's main purpose is "to give people jobs" in Haliburton County, and that should be emphasized as the major goal, he said. Hogg agreed with Fearrey, but said the commission first has to "focus" the types of projects and undertakings it could assist in developing.

Issues and constraints facing the commission were also outlined generally in the plan, though there was no specific mention of any single issue the commission plans to pursue. The report listed four basic objectives under the heading of "major goals", but no mention was made of tourism, Fearrey pointed out. "We're not getting any input from the Ministry of Tourism and if we can't establish communication with them, that should be one of our goals," he said.

Hogg said the point was outlined in the report as requiring major action, and said the commission should implement an "active, specific program to sell Haliburton to the Ministry of Industry and Tourism representatives dealing with business enquiries."

The plan also outlines the general organization and other goals of the commission. It stresses that a central information source which would keep files on the county and other pertinent information should be formed, and outlines what such an office could carry out.

Under the heading "major

Game against Lakefield the last obstacle

Redmen win again, championship near

Despite the fact that this Haliburton Highlands Secondary School football player was gang tackled by four Cannington players during a game last Thursday, the Redmen handily beat their opponents by a score of 32 to 6. The Redmen won another game against I. E. Weldon Secondary School from Lindsay a week ago last Tuesday, and will play against Lakefield College for the championship game on October 31. The Redmen have been undefeated throughout the season.

Seniors support program now in the planning stage

A volunteer with the Ministry of Community and Social Services is hoping to organize Haliburton County's first community support program for senior citizens.

Doris McCann outlined her ideas to Haliburton County council last week, and made a presentation to the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Council later in the week. With a committee of 15 people, McCann has been attempting to organize and gather information concerning the financing and implementation procedures of such a program. The aim, said McCann, "is to try to help the elderly remain independent. It is our hope to keep these people in their own homes where they would find it more comfortable."

Currently, the committee is investigating possible sources of funding for such a support service, and are determining exactly what kinds of services should be made available. McCann told council that Haliburton County has "double" the number of old people found in the average county throughout Ontario, yet no community support services are available here.

School enrolment down, board figures show

The number of students attending elementary and high school in Haliburton County is down this year as a trend toward declining enrolment continues to make itself felt.

Figures released by the Haliburton County Board of Education this week show September 30 enrolment of 1368 students in elementary schools, down from 1402 at the same time last year, and from an eight year high of 1629 in 1972.

Secondary school enrolment is down only slightly over last year, with 623 students registered as of September 30, compared with 634 at the same time last year. Greatest enrolment at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School in the past eight years was in 1975, when 681 students attended classes.

Last spring the board voted to cut the teaching staff at the high school by four for this school year, reducing the number of teachers from 41 to 37. A further six teachers were dropped from elementary schools in the county.

Total enrolment for schools under the jurisdiction of the Haliburton County school board was 1997 September 30, down from 2043 last year, and highs of 2256 in 1972 and 2254 in 1976.

Enrolment at Archie Stouffer Elementary School stood at 431.5 at the end of last month, down slightly from last year's total of 437, and from an eight year high of 528 in 1972. (Kindergarten students count as one half for statistical purposes).

There were 100.5 students at Cardiff school September 30, down from 113 last year and a high of 162 in 1972.

At Dorset school, enrolment is 51, compared to 59 last year and a high of 101 in 1972.

Enrolment has remained relatively constant at Gooderham Elementary School, with 38.5 students registered this year, from 43 last year but up from 1974, 1975 and 1976 figures, and down only slightly from a high of 44 in 1972.

Haliburton Highlands

Senior Elementary School had 482 students registered September 30, up from 435 at the same time last year. Main reason for the increase is the elimination of a Grade 5 class at Wilberforce elementary school. The change also shows up as a drop to 49 students at Wilberforce compared to 76 last year.

Enrolment at the Senior Elementary School is down from an eight year high of 516 in 1973.

Highest enrolment in that period at the Wilberforce school was 94 in 1975.

Victoria Street school enrolment stood at 215.5 last month, down from 239 last year and a recent high of 251 in 1977.

Compiled by grade, figures also indicate that enrolment is falling, although Grades 4, 5, 10, 11, 12 and 13 all show slight increases this year. The increases are largely matched by declines for other grades, however, as particular age groups progress through the system.

Kindergarten enrolment (which is counted as one half) was 63 at the end of last month, down from 70 last year and a high of 89 in 1975.

There are 145 Grade 1 students in the system this year, the same number as last year, but down from a high of 192 in 1976.

Grade 2 enrolment is 138 this year, up one from last year but down significantly from a high of 187 in 1977.

Grade 3 enrolment fell to 135 this year from 174 in 1978, and from a high of 184 in 1972.
Grade 4 enrolment is 184, up from 160 last year but down from a high of 211 in 1972.
Some 156 Grade 5 students were registered September 30, up from 149 last year, but well below a high of 204 in 1972 and 199 in 1976.
Grade 6 enrolment stands at 139, down markedly from 173 last year, and from a peak of 214 in 1975.
Grade 7 registrations were 168 September 30, down from 193 last year and from a high of 217 in 1972 and 1973.
Grade 8 enrolment was 178 last month, up by 38 from last year, but well below a high of 220 in 1974.
As well, 62 students are enrolled in special education classes.
At Haliburton Highlands Secondary School, Grade 9 enrolment stood at 149 at the end of last month, down from 208 at the same time last year, which was also an eight year high.
Grade 10 enrolment is 177 this year, up from 148 last year, and only one less than the high of 178 in 1975.
Some 141 students are enrolled in Grade 11, one more than last year and seven less than the high of 148 in 1976.
Grade 12 enrolment stands at 123, up from 114 last year and down slightly from a high of 130 in 1976.
Grade 13 enrolment is up to 33 this year from 24 last year. Some 45 students were registered in Grade 13 in 1975.

Commission considers plan actions", the document essentially says that the commission should act as a catalyst for businesses through the setting up of task forces, and by promoting the development of industrial parks.

Proposals outlined in the report include county promotion, identifying the needs of each area in business terms, encouraging the development of a "gasohol" testing facility, undertaking research needs for a furniture industry, and studying the craft industry to help promote further development of this kind in the county.
Discussing the annual program the commission should follow, commission members considered a policy concerning the press at the meetings. Director Sinc Nesbitt felt that if any "business person" attended the commission meetings to make a presentation, the press should be told not to come.
Fearrey countered that the commission "needs the press desperately" to inform the public of any further developments, and that if any delegate wishes to meet with the commission, the meeting could be held "in camera", closed to the public.
Next step for the commission, according to the plan, is "to develop and ratify the constitution to ensure agreement and financing for next year." At the same time, the commission will work on a specific action plan for 1980-81 for ratification in February, and complete a draft for the December meeting of county council.
Final approval of the document would take place by the January commission meeting, in time for review by county council during February.

G.W. Martin Lumber expands, buys Kirkland Lake wood plant

G. W. Martin Lumber Limited of Harcourt has purchased all assets of Kirkland Wood Treatment Ltd. in Kirkland Lake, Ontario.
The plant began operating under the new ownership, October 3.
Plans call for the expansion of the plant, which creosotes railway ties and other wood products, to double or triple its previous capacity. G. W. Martin Lumber has set a target of 7.5 million board feet of lumber per year for the plant, which will operate on a 24 hour a day basis.
The company is a major producer of railway ties. Hardwood ties will be shipped to the Kirkland Lake plant from the south, while softwood ties will be purchased from the surrounding area.
Bulk of the ties are used in Canada, but some of the plant's production will be exported to Venezuela.
The Kirkland Lake plant also processes hydro poles and bridge abutment timber. As well as the Harcourt operation and the Kirkland Lake plant, G. W. Martin Lumber Limited owns mills in Mattawa and Eganville and a veneer and pallet plant in Tweed.

Seniors support service in planning stage

A secondary aim of such a program would be to "make people aware" of the lack of home services. The committee hopes to identify the needs of individual municipalities within the county through a questionnaire, and determine what existing facilities there are at the disposal of senior citizens.

"It would be a hit and miss kind of thing," said McCann, "but someone with time could do it (gather information)." The committee hopes to establish a "coordinator" in each municipality to funnel the information for evaluation.

McCann said she felt that professional care services are "overworked". A community service could provide foster parents declare a conflict of interest when the subject is brought up," said Amm. "Foster parents are paid employees of the Association."

shopping access, day-care, a meals-on-wheels program, and other benefits a nursing home or service could not provide. Such needs would be administered by a volunteer board, and any book-keeping could be handled by Dr. Mikel's office at the District Health Unit.

McCann estimated a yearly budget of $30,000 to facilitate such a program, with a full-time coordinator, and said that 80 to 85 percent of these costs could be subsidized from the Ministry, the rest coming from the county or individual municipalities.

"It would mean extra money coming into the county and a number for people to call," said McCann. She added that the committee is "scrounging" to pay for mailing costs and other expenses incurred from investigating certain aspects of the proposal.

Anson, Hindon and Minden Reeve Sinc Nesbitt commended the idea and the proposal by McCann, calling the committee "the greatest senior citizens supporters since I've been on county council." He made a motion to donate money to the committee for further work, but the motion found no seconder.

Lutterworth Reeve Ron Gambell said, "if anything can take the pressure off Hyland Crest, when I'm in favour of it." County Warden Jim Harrison pointed out that the senior citizens home currently has "16 on the waiting list to go in," and such a service would relieve the pressure greatly.

But Dysart et al Reeve Murray Fearrey was concerned that the municipalities would be "snowed again" into paying a large portion of the costs for such a program that would be the Ministry's responsibility. "It's an excellent report and I'm greatly in favour of a program such as this, but I just can't help but think the Ministry of Social Services might turn around and put the onus on the townships to pay 50 percent of the costs."

Fearrey added that the Ministry has gradually been reducing its share of costs and transferring those costs to municipalities. He said the Ministry could turn the project into "another foot in the door to pass the responsibility over to the municipalities."

Council made no resolutions concerning the proposal.

Health Unit staff reduced, budget cited

The local office of the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit will be short two health inspectors this winter due to budget constraints and a decreased cash flow.

One inspector was laid off last month by the unit, and another has taken a job as inspector in another county, though the unit's plans called for the lay-off of both people. Two other inspectors have also been laid off in Lindsay and Cobourg, making a total of 18 available in the district, four of whom are located in Haliburton.

The decision to lay the employees off was a joint one between the business administrator, Hugh Good, the Medical Officer of Health, Dr. D. A. Mikel and the board of health made up of municipally appointed officials. The reason for the lay-offs, according to Chief Public Health Inspector, Bob MacNaull, is "budget".

The unit this year has seen a drop in the number of health and severance certificates issued, which is where the bulk of the cash flow is generated. Though the unit's budget comes from the Ministry of Health, the Ministry of Environment also pays the unit for inspection services, and said MacNaull, the number of requests for these services has declined.

"We haven't seen as many severances (which the unit also administers) or inspections this year," said MacNaull.

The business administrator for the unit, Hugh Good, said the governing bodies of the unit projected that cash flow and business would not warrant 22 inspectors in the district. "The estimated revenue for the remainder of the year was not enough to support these employees," said Good.

He added that he didn't expect any difficulties from the cutback and said there is "no way" of telling whether the employees could be rehired in April.

"Nobody seems to know if business will get better," he said. "One expert tells you that housing developments will increase because of the Conservative mortgage deductibility plan, and someone else will tell you there will be no difference."

Cars hit on curve two men injured

An 18-year old Harcourt man suffered minor injuries and a 23-year old Wilberforce man suffered minor injuries when the vehicles they were driving collided on a curve near Wilberforce early Sunday morning.

Haro Dahlke, 18 of Harcourt, and David Wardle, 23 of Wilberforce were transported to Haliburton hospital following the mishap, which occurred on Highway 648.

Police say Dahlke was eastbound and Wardle westbound when their vehicles collided. Wardle was charged with failing to share half the roadway.

Damage to Dahlke's vehicle was set at $2000, while damage to Wardle's vehicle was estimated at $1000.

Two people suffered minor injuries and were treated at Haliburton hospital following a single vehicle crash west of Irondale Sunday evening.

Police say a pickup truck driven by Kelda Berube, 45 of Val Caron, Ontario, was eastbound on Highway 503 when it left the road and struck a rock-cut on the north shoulder. Injured in the mishap were Berube and a passenger, Eddie Dewey, 19 of Gooderham.

Damage to the truck was estimated at $7000. Berube was charged with driving without an operator's licence.

A Haliburton area driver suffered minimal injuries

Lockie Morrison, 41 of RR 1 Haliburton was slightly injured early Sunday morning when the westbound truck he was driving entered the north ditch and rolled over.

Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $4000.

A 24-year old Gooderham man suffered minimal injuries in a single vehicle mishap near Wilberforce last Wednesday. Dale Dovell was southbound on Highway 648 when his car left the road and struck a rock-cut on the east side of the road. Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $3000.

Dovell was charged with careless driving.

Damage was estimated at $1500 in a single vehicle mishap on County Road #2 early Saturday morning.

Philip Boulton, 23 of Mississauga was eastbound when the car he was driving left the road and struck some trees in the east ditch.

Boulton was charged with failing to report a collision forthwith.

Damage was estimated at $700 when a car left the boundary road north of Kinmount Friday night.

Police say a car driven by Sheila Simpson, 17 of Kinmount was eastbound when it struck a tree on the south side of the road.

Council wants list of who gets assistance

Haliburton County council want to make people living on government assistance available for work duties for senior citizens, at the discretion of the county's municipalities.

Elgin Stouffer, deputy-recieve of Stanhope Township, raised the issue at a county council meeting last week. "Somehow," he said, "the names of these people (receiving unemployment insurance and other forms of government assistance), should be made available to the municipalities at their discretion to help the elderly."

A motion was put forward to request to Manpower that lists of people who are receiving government benefits be made available to municipalities. At their discretion, these people should be put to work in aid of senior citizens within the particular municipality, Stouffer said.

"They'll (Manpower) probably say no to the request," Stouffer said, "but at least we'll let them know how we feel." The motion was passed, and a copy of the resolution is being sent to the Ministry of Community and Social Services.

Vandalism brings charges

Two 12 year old boys have been charged in connection with an incident of vandalism at Moore Lake Marina that resulted in at least $3,000 damage to a number of boats.

Police say the boat storage shed at the marina was entered sometime last Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning. Hull paint was damaged, canopies were ripped, sand was put in motors, wire harnesses were stripped, lights were broken and boats were structurally damaged.

A complete estimate of the damage was not available this week, but a spokesman for the Minden OPP said damage could be as high as $8000.

One of the juveniles charged is from Minden and the other is from RR 1, Norland.

The art rental program at the Rails' End Gallery officially got off the ground this week, and local artist Bruce Mills and Patti Smith helped to put the finishing touches to the mounting on Monday. The program itself will be featured for two weeks, though organizers hope to continue with the rental on an ongoing basis on a smaller scale.

County council will ask Ministry to radically shorten bear season

Haliburton County council wants the Ministry of Natural Resources to restrict bear hunting season to the week prior to the deer hunting season and to the week of the deer hunting season, due to a problem with run-away dogs in Cardiff Township.

Cardiff Reeve, Malcolm McGillivray, told council at last Wednesday's meeting that hunting dogs are usually brought into the area by bear hunters, and that strays will chase down deer, and may kill them. Cardiff addressed a letter to the MNR requesting a change in legislation that would allow by-law enforcement officers to shoot dogs dangerous to deer.

Bear hunting season opened September 15, and runs to November 30, overlapping deer season which runs from November 5 to 10.

Rather than dealing with the dog problem, council felt the season itself was the root of the problem. The majority of councillors felt the seasons should not overlap, but had differing opinions as to when the bear season should end. An earlier bear season, some councillors pointed out, would increase the number of dogs running down bear, and deer, before deer season opened.

Sherborne, McClintock and Livingston Deputy-Reeve Don Shortreed said, "I'm against hunting with dogs in the first place. If they (the Ministry) don't cut out the dogs, there's soon going to be no deer in the township."

Dysart et al Reeve Murray Fearrey said that he is "not a hunter," but put a motion forward that council request the season for bear to be restricted to two weeks prior to deer season. The motion was defeated, but an amendment which requested bear season be allowed only one week prior to and one week during deer season was accepted by council. The resolution also stated that hunting with dogs during the first week prior to deer season should be disallowed.

Glamorgan council discusses community centre feasibility

A special meeting of the Glamorgan Township council was held Monday, October 1 to discuss the Feasibility Study for a community centre. A draft report on the study was presented by the personnel from Cambrian Planning Consultants Inc. and was discussed by council and the parks and recreation board members.

Financing for this and other projects was discussed with Brenda Couch, consultant, Ministry of Culture and Recreation. A request will be submitted to the Ministry of Culture and Recreation for an extension of Confirmation of Eligibility for Wintario funding re: File # PET-8-62079. Council met again October 3.

General accounts of $20,582.32, road accounts of $4,720.94, and welfare payroll of $985.27 were approved for payment.

A letter will be written to the Township of Monmouth in support of a decision to purchase a private right of way, 66 feet, on Lot 2, Concession 11, Monmouth Township. The amount of $1000 will be offered and all costs in purchasing the right of way will be equally shared by Monmouth and Glamorgan Townships. This will provide access to Glamorgan ratepayers on Lot 35, Concession 10.

Norman Graham will be advised of provisions of By-law 71-16, council decided.

The 1980 forecast for road expenditures was approved as presented.

Data processing system will be implemented for future tax bills for the township, council agreed.

The following persons were appointed as members of the Glamorgan Township Volunteer Fire Department as recommended by F. Howard Hillis, Chief, under By-law 74-20, Section 4: Walter Franke, David Graham and James Greenwood.

A proposed severance in part Lot 27, Concession 6 by George Morrison was referred to the committee of adjustment for their consideration and Mr. Morrison will be asked to provide evidence that he has legal access over crown land.

Council agreed to advertise in the Wilberforce Minor Hockey Association calendar.

Cambrian Planning Consultants were advised that council instructs that the final report on the Feasibility Study for a community centre is to be based on an approximate 4,000 square foot area. Council met again October 16.

The tender from Armco Canada Ltd. for the supply of one galvanized corrugated steel structure plate pipe arch culvert 12 gauge, priced at $6,918.00 was accepted.

Resolution No. 4, dated September 18, 1979 was rescinded.

The cost estimates outlined in a letter dated October 5, 1979 by Deardon & Stanton Ltd., Minden, were approved for the survey and preparation of a reference plan of the forced road through Lots 20-25 inclusive, Concession 5, Township of Glamorgan.

The proposed filling, Billings Lake, Lot 32, Concession VII, Township of Glamorgan was approved by council.

Resolution No. 8, dated October 3, 1979 was amended with regard to application for consent H250/79, H251/79 by adding the following condition: That the applicant provide title to a 66' right-of-way across Lots 26 and 27, Concession 4 in accordance with the present travelled road.

Resolution No. 8, dated October 3, 1979 be amended with regard to application H237/79 by addition of the following condition: That the subject land be consolidated with the present holdings of Ken and Gloria Breen and that no building permit will be issued for the land designated in application H237/79 as a separate parcel.

Resolution No. 8 dated October 3, 1979 was amended with regard to applications for consent H250/79, H251/79 by adding the following condition: That the applicant provide title to a 66' right-of-way across Lots 26 and 27, Concession 4 in accordance with the present travelled road.

OHRP application 460900-0035 was refused because of delinquent taxes on this property and the undue financial burden this application causes.

Insurance should pay highway fire calls, council maintains Costs incurred by townships as the result of fires and accidents on provincial highways in Haliburton County should be picked up by insurance companies, county council decided last week.

The decision came in light of a letter from Dufferin County, which expressed concern that individual townships should not have to pay for the calls to fires on public roads. Instead, the letter said, the tab should be picked up by the Ministry of Transportation and Communications.

Warden Jim Harrison agreed with the sentiments of Dufferin, saying that he "didn't see why townships should have to pick up the bill for something that has nothing to do with them."

Monmouth Reeve Keith Tallman told council that the Ministry paid the costs associated with a fire call when the fire department in his township answered a fire call on a highway some months back.

Anson, Hindon and Minden Reeve Sinc Nesbitt pointed out that "it depends on how much into this you are." In Stanhope Township, he said, costs are incurred by the municipality when the first response team answers an accident call on a highway.

"At least they should pay for something," said Nesbitt, who felt all or some of the costs should be charged to the individual insurance companies rather than the Ministry itself.

"The insurance companies, after they pay us, can then deal with the Ministry," Nesbitt said the townships would then have effective coverage, and the "chain of events" should work through the insurance companies.

The county will send a letter to the MTC advising them of the decision.

Snowdon council calls for timber cut tenders

At the October meeting of Snowdon Township council, the following matters were considered:

Road voucher for the month of September in the amount of $4,149 was approved for payment.

Council accepted the tender from Francis Walker for the supply of 600 yards of screened winter sand at a price of $2.50 per cubic yard to be drawn to the township yard, stockpiled and mixed with salt provided by the township.

Tenders will be invited for the sale of timber on part Lot 21, Concession 13. Tenders are to be for cutting and removal of timber from an area of 37,500 square feet.

Council passed a resolution noting that land affected by By-law 9/79, a by-law to amend By-law 3/78 (the comprehensive zoning by-law for the township) is not covered by an official plan.

General accounts of $31,945.90, general welfare assistance of $50, and Ontario Home Renewal Program accounts of $3,400 were approved for payment.

Council will meet again November 8, 1979 or as called by the reeve.

Hire a commissioner

Haliburton County's Economic Development Commission continues to meet on a monthly basis, eight months after it began working in earnest to improve the county's economy. Yet as the commission moves closer to the end of its first year of operation, it is becoming increasingly clear that the enthusiasm and commitment members have brought to the task may not be sufficient to get the job done. The commission faces a two-sided dilemma. On one side is the clear indication that taxpayers want the commission to take concrete action in the immediate future. Almost without exception, submissions to the commission at a series of public meetings called on the group to take the initiative toward industrial development. On the other side of the dilemma is the fact that the commission cannot now and probably never will be able to act in that capacity. It is a volunteer group of concerned people with limited time to give and limited knowledge to bring to the task. As the commission struggles to define itself in a "plan of action" document that is expected to be presented to county council within the next two months, it is already clear that the county must be willing to take the next step, a step that goes beyond a volunteer commission. If county council wants to demonstrate that it is concerned about the county's present and future development prospects, it must give serious consideration to hiring a full time economic development commissioner. It is a course of action that has been followed in many other areas of the province, and it is one that can pay solid dividends.

Hiring a full time commissioner would be expensive. It is probable that someone with the knowledge and experience required to do the job well might command at least $30,000 in salary and benefits. Last year, the county spent the princely sum of $2 on economic development, and this year, it committed $4000 to meet commission expenses. An expenditure of $30,000 for a full time commissioner would represent approximately four percent of the county's $700,000 budget for 1979. For comparison it must be recognized that the county spent close to $25,000 last year toward the preparation of a planning strategy which does not include lakeshores, where the bulk of county development takes place, and which must be turned into an official plan at additional cost before teeth are put into the planning process. Some $22,084.80 was spent for the operation of the land division committee, $13,000 went to the Chamber of Commerce, $12,227.50 was paid to members of council, an additional $10,079.80 was spent for committee meetings, $30,500 went to the public library, and wolf bounties ate up another $1,175. All of these, with the possible exception of the bounty, are necessary expenditures of course, but their size indicates that $30,000 spent to hire a full time economic development commissioner would not be out of line.

Measured against the benefits that would accrue to the county as a whole if light industry were attracted here, the cost of a commissioner would be small. One plant locating in the county and employing 30 or 40 people might well pump half a million dollars into the local economy. Taxes the plant would pay to a local municipality would help fill township coffers. Other benefits, such as increased awareness of the county among the business sector in other parts of the province would be harder to measure but no less significant.

If a full time commissioner were hired, the present commission, or a modified version of it, could continue to act, volunteering its time to see projects through to completion. The commission, and a full time commissioner would together represent a powerful force working for an improved economic climate.

Economic development is without question the foundation on which a stronger future for this area will be built. Money spent on a solid foundation pays off in the long term. County council must look beyond next year's budget into the decade ahead and give serious and immediate consideration to hiring an economic development commissioner.

It would be money well spent.

A project worth supporting

Haliburton County council learned last week that work is already underway to form a support services group for senior citizens that would eventually operate on a county-wide basis.

At the heart of the plan is the belief that with help, many senior citizens can remain in homes they might otherwise have to leave. Council expressed concern at last week's meeting that the proposal might end up being a costly one if the Ministry of Community and Social Services does not provide a high enough percentage of funding. The concern is legitimate, but it should blind no one to the importance of the support services proposal. Facilities to house senior citizens are expensive to build and costly to maintain. In the long run, it is probably less expensive to help people remain in their own homes than it is to build special facilities to house them. It is also more humane to help seniors stay close to family, friends and familiar surroundings.

County council should give the seniors support services project its whole-hearted moral and financial support.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I was led to believe from the T.V. Guide, that the football game between Hamilton and Toronto of October 8, 1979 would be televised through Barrie, Channel 3.

I live 150 miles north from Toronto, and find it most difficult to travel that distance to see the game(s).

I do not speak for myself alone, but for all of the senior citizens who have this same problem. Many of us are on fixed incomes that makes bus travel impossible.

I feel that we are being deprived of our human rights when these T.V. programs are blacked out, let alone the pleasure we get from watching these games.

At this point of my concern, and in accordance with the thoughts of Pope Paul the second, and his tour of the United States, he repeated many times his firm beliefs for human rights. I therefore appeal to those on the Board of Governors for T.V., radio sportscasters, T.V. station managements, and the press for these T.V. programs to have this decision regarding blackout of T.V. games reviewed and changed, thus making it possible for our seniors to get as much pleasure as possible in their golden years.

Thanking you,
Yours truly,
J. Paak,

Last week, for the first time in the three years since I left graduate school, I had an opportunity to stand in front of a classroom and talk about something that to me is both interesting and important. Three years ago the students I faced were enrolled in a first-year university English course and the subjects I talked about over the course of a year ranged from Homer to John Fowles. Last week the students were studying grade nine history, and the subject I talked about with four different classes was "how local government should work to be effective". My talk followed by two days, a talk by Deyssart et al. Reek Murray Fearrey. The idea was to give the students a chance to hear differing viewpoints on local government from two people who are closely involved with it.

The reeve, of course, knows politics from the inside, while I know it only from watching it operate. The two perspectives are widely divergent but both are founded on a belief that local government is important.

For close to three years, I have been attending council meetings in small communities, and in that time I have come to believe that the keys to effective local government are information and participation. When either of these keys are missing, the door to a better future remains closed.

Information and participation are two-sided. Councilors and the public must be informed if the democratic process is to work effectively. Each must also participate in local government for it to function to its fullest potential.

On the surface, these statements are simple enough, yet the truth is that they are ignored more often than they are followed.

On the matter of participation, it is clear to anyone who has sat in on council meetings that many councilors at both the municipal and county level, do not participate in the democratic process to the extent that ratepayers have a right to expect.

There are councilors who say no more than a sentence or two in the course of a day-long meeting, and there are county councilors who say no more than a sentence or two in a year of meetings.

Ratepayers should also take part in the process of local government, but frequently and in large numbers, they do not. The number of people who attend council meetings, or who make their feelings on issues known to councilors and reeves, is small indeed. It is also safe to say that the majority of voters do not take the time to get to know the candidates for office, and that they use standards other than intelligence, commitment and ideas in casting their votes. The result is councils which are weaker than they should be, and which sometimes cling desperately to the "status quo" in the face of inevitable change.

The second key to effective local government is information, and its importance should not be underestimated. If information were not a cornerstone of the democratic process, freedom of speech and of the press would not be the first things to disappear when totalitarianism replaces democracy in the wake of revolutions.

Unless ratepayers and councilors keep informed of issues and events, they cannot make intelligent choices. While ratepayers don't always take the time to keep up with local decisions through the coverage this newspaper provides, councilors are frequently intimidated by the presence of the press. The basic assumption seems to be that the press sells newspapers by looking for controversy, and by stirring up trouble. Nothing could be farther from the truth. In fact, community newspapers like the Echo do neither more nor less than report what happens, who said what, and as often as possible, the process by which councils make decisions. If that puts councilors on the hot seat and makes ratepayers sit up and take notice, that is as it should be. Councils

The World Series is finally over and the new champions are the Pittsburgh Pirates. As most all of you are aware, it all ended last Wednesday night on a beautiful evening in Baltimore. The final score was 4 - 1 with the Pirates winning it in seven games. I am not one to keep track of all the baseball statistics but it seems to me that one of the television announcers stated that this was only the fifth time in World Series history that a team such as Pittsburgh, who at one time were down three games to one, ever came back to win the last three games in a row for the championship. You, as baseball fans, are likely sick of listening to the announcers and newspapers telling you what a great World Series it was, but if you think about it, the two teams were really well matched. I didn't watch all of the games but I saw most of them and I must admit that there didn't seem to be very many boring moments. It was the kind of ball that kept you sitting on the edge of your seats most of the way and as one of the announcers pointed out that there were times in most of the games when the tension was so bad that it would have taken a knife to cut it. What made this World Series different from some of the rest? In my opinion, it was the number of errors that were committed in every game by players from both teams. The playing conditions, with plenty of rain and cold weather, were anything but ideal for the fall classic and it would appear that this was one of the main reasons why so many errors took place. The pitching by both teams was excellent but it was the winning Pittsburgh Pirates who held the hot hand when it came to batting. They outthit the Orioles very badly and especially in the final three games. There were plenty of heroes on both teams but the overall there had to be the one and only Willie Stargell, who said it all with his bat and in the big seventh game came up with two doubles, a triple and a home run. This is hitting at its best by a man who knows how to use a bat. It always seems to me that the American League, year after year, can produce a team that wins the World Series, but not this year. The year of 1979 belonged to the Pittsburgh Pirates. There is only one thing that disturbs me about the World Series and this is at the beginning of each game when they apparently have to go through the seemingly never-ending job of introducing each and every player on both teams. I think that this is fine at the beginning of the first game of the series but not every game. It's just a bit too much and after viewing this, for let's say two or three games, it starts to become very boring.

Les Hughes of the Haliburton Travel Agency was telling me last week that he was aboard the TravelWays tour bus that went to Nashville over the Thanksgiving weekend. There were 29 passengers on the bus for the four-day tour.

We have just been informed that the Kinsmen Club of Haliburton and the Haliburton Figure Skating Club are planning to hold a skate-a-thon at the arena in Haliburton on Friday and Saturday, November 2 and 3. Pledge sheets are now being distributed.

It has been brought to my attention that possibly the speed limit should be lowered on the stretch of highway just outside of Haliburton from, let's say, the Driftwood Restaurant to Haliburton Marine. The next time you are driving down that way notice the many entrances that lead into business places on this section of highway. There are a great many cars and trucks coming out these driveways during a working day.

The Haliburton Lions Club are holding an Autumn Hallowe'en Dance and Costume Ball this coming Saturday evening, October 27 at the Minden Community Centre starting at 8:30 p.m. and continuing through until 1:00 a.m. The evening will feature music for dancing by a live band, buffet lunch, best costume prizes and the annual draw for nine prizes with the major prize being a trip for two to Nassau. The Lions Club invite you to attend and clown it up.

The Haliburton Highlands Senior Citizens Club keeps rolling right along and now have a membership of between 200 and 300 members. They are averaging over the 100 mark in attendance at their Thursday dinners and get-togethers at the Dysart Community Centre in Haliburton. It's a growing organization that's really going ahead and they tell me that they have some big plans for the future.

Employees of the Ministry of Transportation and Communications were busy with their equipment last week taking off some of the mulch from the highway near the entrance that leads to the 121 highway to Haliburton and on the hill near Walkers Lumber. We understand that the highway and hill are too slippery when it rains or snows due to the smooth surface and that they are trying to make the mulch so that the motorists will have a rough surface on which to drive. We were certainly surprised to see the work that the heavy equipment can do when it comes to tearing up the pavement.

Paul Dawson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Dawson of Haliburton was married on Saturday, October 20 in Burlington to Catherine Hubbs. A wedding dance will be held Saturday, October 27 at the Royal Canadian Legion at Haliburton at 9:00 p.m. Friends and relatives are welcome.

The ladies of the Haliburton U.C.W. are busy making preparations for their "Christmas Country Fair" which will be held on Saturday, November 17 from 2:00 - 4:00 p.m. Orders are now being taken for home-made fruit mincemeat.

There's a baseball dance coming up for players from the Haliburton Men's Recreational Softball League on Friday, October 26 at 9 p.m. It will be held at the Legion Hall in Haliburton. Admission is $5.00 per couple. The winner's trophy will be presented later in the evening.

Pic of the Past

This is a picture of the old Haliburton Community Arena shortly after it was opened in 1932. The steel beams for the building came from a dismantled cement plant and most of the lumber and the metal roofing were from an old sawmill. The covered rink, which was situated in the fairgrounds at that time was considered to be one of the better arenas in this part of the province. The rink was later condemned and torn down to make room for the new modern arena that was constructed on the same site in 1964. Our thanks to Curry Bishop of Haliburton for submitting this most interesting photo.

Report from Queen's Park

by MPP John Eakins

Energy Supplies

This week in the Legislature there was a major debate on energy, and particularly on oil pricing. In the course of the debate, my leader, Stuart Smith, pointed out that "The manufacturing base of this province and our provincial economy generally will be very badly damaged if we have to continue to make very large transfer payments out of the economy of this province to other parts of the world and even to other parts of Canada. If called upon to pay a much higher price for oil in the coming year we will face an almost certain recession. The manufacturing industries in Ontario have to re-tool. We have to be competitive; we have to be able to have the latest in equipment if we're to compete on a worldwide basis."

Legalized Gambling

Ontario's Minister of Commercial Relations has stated that there will be no gambling casinos or betting on dog races in the province. The government is against casino gambling because it would hurt service clubs which run casino nights for charity, and above all because of the "undesirable element" which comes with profitable casinos, such as increased loan sharking and prostitution.

Acid Rain

Replying to Opposition questions, the Environment Minister has stated that the government is not prepared at present to clamp down on Ontario companies which emit pollutants causing acid rain.

He also postponed a ban on dumping of liquid wastes which he promised last year would be implemented January 1. In his view, it would be unfair to curtail industry until an international agreement is reached on the issue of acid rain. He also cautioned a Legislature committee that most of the studies have been based on mathematical and laboratory work and still have to be checked out with research in the field.

Industrial Waste

The Minister of the Environment released two reports which have recommended a long term insurance scheme for dumps and a series of potential dumping sites across southwestern Ontario. The first, called Perpetual Care for Waste Management Facilities, said old Ontario dumps are producing such problems as water contamination and exploding pockets of methane gas. The second, on treatment and disposal of liquid industrial wastes and hazardous wastes, says a multi-million dollar building program will be required. Ontario industry will generate an estimated 60 to 70 million gallons of liquid industrial waste this year and the figure could rise to 80 million gallons in the near future. Estimates indicate that about 40 percent of this is a mixture of oil and water, but 10 to 20 percent of the liquid industrial waste shipped for disposal is potentially harmful to public health. This includes polychlorinated biphenyls and other wastes.

Report from Parliament

by Bill Scott MP

Last week Industry, Trade and Commerce minister, Senator Robert de Cotret, addressed the Montreal Chamber of Commerce. The theme of his address was: "The Private Sector: Engine of Economic Growth."

Senator de Cotret feels that people today are finally coming to the realization that the essential underpinning of an economically healthy, democratic society is the process of wealth creation. In a western, free-enterprise country such as Canada, it is the private sector which must generate this wealth; in a free society the private sector is "where it's at."

Government has an obligation to provide for its citizens who are old, sick, disabled, or unemployed through no fault of their own, but government activity and government spending cannot promote growth and create new wealth. Governments cannot create wealth. Governments can only provide services, but in order to do so, they must be supported by a strong and healthy private sector.

It is the private sector which has the responsibility of moving the Canadian economy forward. And it is the responsibility of government to provide the framework and the support so the private sector can flourish. The relationship between government and business must be a mutual one. Senator de Cotret believes that governments are at their best when they allow businesses to do their best and that in turn, businesses will do their best when they are allowed to.

To this end the federal government is presently working to reduce its claim on the resources of society so as to leave more room for action by the private sector. A new expenditure management system has been established within Cabinet in which each department cannot spend beyond a certain limit. The government is divesting itself of some crown corporation, putting back in the private sector those activities which the private sector can handle better than government.

So that the private sector can get on with the job, steps are being taken to reduce as much as possible the intrusion of government in the activities of business. A major review of the whole area of

As he promised, James Lamb had his publishers send me a copy of his just-published book, Press Gang, and I'm glad he did. Laid up with a dose of 'flu, I was able to escape from my personal miseries into this warm and entertaining account of small-town Canadian newspapers and the people who ran them in the post-war era.

As well as the newspaper world, the author has produced a social document of some importance, re-creating small-town Canada (the real Canada, in my opinion) in all its quirkiness, wealth of colorful characters, and basic stability, qualities that seem to be eroding rapidly.

It is very much a first-person narrative. We meet the young Jim Lamb, just out of the Navy, after years on the corvettes, and determined to become a newspaperman.

Lamb recaptures the excitement and urgency of that first autumn of 1945 and the years immediately following. Canada had come of age in World War II, and Canadians knew it. Europe was shattered, Britain exhausted. This was the best country in the world to live in, and all we recently discharged young veterans knew it. There was an almost palpable exhilaration in the air.

Right across the country, including Quebec, there was a sense of pride, a feeling of unity, that had never existed in this country before, and has sadly deteriorated since. Our fighting men had proved themselves the equal of any, our industry was booming, there was lots of room and opportunity for everyone, and the future was rosy. Well do I remember the feeling.

This was before the social revolution, the inflation, the monstrously swollen government, the huge deficits, and the shadow of separatism: the things that have turned us into a nation and security-minded, materialistic crybabies.

But let me not draw a gloomy picture of "Press Gang". It's a delightful book, one that will bring a nostalgic glow to all those people who lived in small towns across Canada in the Forties and Fifties.

Lonely as only a young reporter in a strange town can be, Lamb gradually became absorbed in the atmosphere and social life of the places he worked: Woodstock, Moose Jaw, Orillia. And he recreates this feeling of a younger, happier Canada, when life was simpler and society less sophisticated than those tree-shaded streets of our towns and small cities.

From the author we also get a good look into the workings and machinations of those small newspapers with their ramshackle old buildings and rickety machinery, where reporters worked for thirty dollars a week, and loved it. It's delightful stuff for anyone who has been in the business.

But perhaps the greatest pleasure in the book is the anecdotes and vignettes of characters, all the way from Lamb's first meeting with tight-fisted Roy Thomson, to become eventually Lord Fleet of London and owner of the biggest newspaper empire in the world, down to the grubbier paper-carrier, baffling the bureaucracy of the newspaper with his complete lack of organization.

We meet Harry Boyle, self-made Canadian millionaire, who wound up with the Queen of Rumania as his mistress. And C.H. Hale, editor of the Orillia Packet and Times, "a prototype of all the old-line newspapermen across the country who ran newspapers because they had something to say, not because they thought they could get rich."

There were quite a few of those around when I was in the business, but there aren't many left. The thundering of the editor has been replaced by the wiles of the advertising manager, in the pursuit of the buck. The result is an almost national blandness on the editorial pages of small-city papers across the country. Don't step on too many toes.

James Lamb was one of the good ones, and during the years he was editor in Orillia, Packet and Times editorials were quoted across the country.

In the last few chapters of Press Gang, Jim Lamb's tone changes from a nostalgic chuckle to a tone of lament and even anger for a Canada that has been lost. He sounds off loud and clear for the millions of Canadians who must grit their teeth and suffer in silence the "inabilities and incomprehensions of a new breed of journalist", or be labelled "rednecks" or "reactionaries" by the trendy types who today write the news.

He comes out swinging at government that governs in a vacuum. "It is probably fair to say that most recent Canadian legislation runs directly counter to the wishes of the majority of Canadians... In a whole range of issues, from abortion and capital punishment to the metric system and the monarchy, the attitude of the rulers is at variance with that of the ruled." And a lot more of it.

This is vintage Lamb editorializing, and while you might not share all his views, it ends the book with strength and sting.

govern because the public allows them to do so, and the public can revoke the right if the governing has been less than satisfactory. By providing objective news stories and carefully considered editorial opinion, newspapers help keep ratepayers informed, and give them a point of view to accept or reject.

In combination, information and participation give all of us a chance to shape the future. Take away either and we lose the tools with which we can confront the reality of change and bend it to shape our needs.

From the Chamber

by Bob Stinson

Positive Attitudes Get Positive Results

This past week has been busy to the point of being mind boggling when you consider we had an Economic Development Commission meeting, the first meeting of our new board of directors of the Chamber, several committee meetings, the tourism seminar in Lindsay, the Warden's Banquet in Stanhope and the Resorts Ontario fall meeting at Wig-A-Mog Inn.

The seminar in Lindsay was attended by about 100 people and we thank Sir Sandford Fleming College for their efforts in presenting it. It was marred, we thought, by some of the participants who apparently only went there to complain, not to learn. A presentation by F.B.D.B. that included an explanation of counselling service by retired business executives that is available at a nominal fee of $5 per hour drew demands that it should be provided free. Ministry of Industry & Tourism director, Barry Dobson, was told that his ministry should on the one hand produce more tourist brochures, and on the other hand, forget about tourist promotion until they solve the acid rain problem. Ann Sargent, who gave an extremely good presentation on the "Canada Wonderland" 100 million dollar theme park that private enterprise is now building at Maple was greeted with "how come it's not closer to us?" and "how do you expect us to benefit when the roads are so bad between here and there?" As legitimate as these concerns may be, complaining to speakers who had little or no control over the solutions only accomplished the fact of providing a negative mood to what should have been a productive seminar.

When Resorts Ontario meet, however, things are seldom negative. This organization continues to have an excellent working relationship with government and at this fall meeting one good example of this was revealed. President Robert Downing announced that after several months of negotiating and drafting proposals with the Honorable Frank Drea, new liquor legislation has now been drafted and received cabinet approval based on those proposals. The new act will provide a new category of licensing for resorts who are only concerned with providing this service to their guests and should be a major step forward for the Ontario resort industry. The positive approach that Resorts Ontario takes in these matters no doubt has a great deal to do with major accomplishments such as this. John Maxwell, assistant to the Deputy-Minister of Industry & Tourism addressed the members of Resorts Ontario and was very optimistic of the Tourism industries future over the next few years. Predictions are that our dollar will remain below the American and European dollars, and energy shortages in the U.S. will continue to create problems for them. Our energy prices are expected to escalate but little effect is expected other than somewhat reducing disposable income. European travel to our country is on the increase and is expected to continue to climb.

New Tourism Funding

The Ontario Government is launching an additional tourist loan program aimed at helping tourist operators upgrade their present facilities and add new ones. In addition to the present loans available through the Ontario Development missed, and the half ended by a score of 7 to 0.

In the third quarter, the ball traded hands until John Dack of the Redmen juniors tackled the Cannington quarterback in his own end zone to give Haliburton a further two points.

In the fourth, Dave Elstone scored on a six-yard running play, and Yake and Mark Prior combined to execute a two-point conversion. That finished the game, and the score ended up 17 to 0 in Haliburton's favour.

According to coach Brohman, Yake was the most outstanding offensive player of the game, and Rich Choy and John Dack played strong games, defensively.

The Redmen will meet Brock again this Thursday at 2 p.m. on home ground for the final game of the regular season. The Kawartha 'A' championship game against Lakefield College will be played the following week, on October 31 at 2 p.m. in Lakefield. The Redmen will be defending their title again against Lakefield, and due to the excellent season the team has been having, the contest will be the climactic game of the high school football season.

Haliburton Curling Club News

by Tom Stinson

Curlers have been waiting for ice and action in our new rink, so please take note of when we open up: Friday, November 2 at 8 p.m., with a short annual meeting, followed by some curling and a social hour or two. New curlers and beginners are cordially welcome. Come and meet a great friendly group, and get a quick warm-up to a grand game.

Linda Beachli is our secretary, so phone her at 457-2973 for information. Ken Wilson, club president, will be happy to see new curlers. Bob Colliver is our draw-master, and Phyl Woodcock is our treasurer.

The following is the winter schedule, at least until the Xmas break. If we can attract more curlers we can easily add more draws.

On Monday at 8 p.m. the men's league begins on November 5, on Tuesday at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m., mixed (2 draws), November 6, Wednesday at 8 p.m., ladies league, November 7, Thursday at 1:30 p.m., mixed seniors, November 8, 8 p.m. men's league, November 9.

The first bonspiel of the new season will be an open men's one-day on Saturday, November 24. There will be more about spils later.

Ladies afternoon curling will not begin until after the new year on Monday, January 7 at 1 p.m. Again, Linda will be glad to talk to any ladies who can come out for an afternoon of curling and good sociability, even if this is the only time you can come out. Last year we initiated a seniors group on Thursday afternoons at 1:30, following our seniors' lunch at the arena. Again this year we would welcome more seniors - even if you never curled before, call Tom Stinson at 457-2004, Les Walling at 457-2227, or John or Peggy Basset at 457-2170.

Extensicare News

by Dr. W.O. Anderson

The patio at Extensicare is very bare after having all the tables, the high swing and the benches put into the shed, a remarkable saving from the destructiveness of winter weather. We are told, believe it or not, that the pop dispenser will stay where it is winter and summer, the difference being a little heat bulb to ward off severe freezing.

It is claimed there is more tea drunk than any other beverage excepting water. Its harvest commands more skilled workers than any other, probably more than five million people. It is harvested while the shrub is in active growth, being deprived of those newly formed, tender, leaves of uniform size and shape, but not to the extent of diminishing its activity. The pickings are fermented which leads to the curl, then heat dried and distributed in bulk, later packaged to suit us from where it adds delight to our meals.

Another stunt was used this year to winterize the roses, seven all told, four more than this time last year. We simply pulled many of the frozen flower bushes including the pod bearing radish and piled them around each bush just enough to catch the snow and hold it to make a snow mound of each bush. We will be wiser when spring comes.

We have the nicest bunch of plants this year than before, many are new rooting cuttings. The little sections of the dieffenbachia, and the avocado seem to be teasing us not yet letting us know if they are going to sprout or spoil. Even so it is very interesting. About two weeks ago, Mrs. Russell Johnston, sister of Myrtle, brought in a geranium plant that we immediately potted and placed in the lounge planter, and have been well repaid by it blooming profusely ever since. It makes us wonder why the geraniums from our own flower garden will not do that.

One of the most amazing features of Fidel Castro is his cheek. He demanded that the western countries cancel a $5 billion debt owed to them by the third world countries, and then loan them another $500 million. He is said to be president of the non-aligned nations, all of which are "satellites" of the Soviet Union. World politics is quite a game that we hope can continue peacefully. By sheer numbers, these satellites dominate the United Nations.

The weekly bingo Tuesday afternoon is well attended and with enthusiasm with Mrs. Dorothy Iles, Mrs. Betty Wise, Mrs. Betty Gibson and Mrs. Thelma Springer, helpers, Jake Gill calling. Karen Henderson was not here but reported 11,244 cigarette boxes collected to date. There is still a long way to go before the finish. As before, everybody won and all were happy.

Bill Scott's, M.P. Report from Parliament is taken up entirely by the government of Canada's urge to conserve energy; that means do not waste it whether as gas for the car, oil, gas or hydro for the home. One chap was telling us that with electric heating which he has, he does not know how to control the heat except by opening the windows. There must be millions in Ontario who even now think they can afford to do just that. Mr. Scott's message was timely but we doubt if it will be heeded. Again, how many think nothing of using the car to drive ¼ mile for a pack of cigarettes. Another item in this week's "Echo" indicated that $125 per cord was a reasonable price to pay for a cord of hardwood for the fireplace, stove or furnace and the Arabs and Sheikh Loughheed get only $25 a barrel for their energy. Even human nature is interesting, as is the cliché "a whole is no stronger than its weakest part."

Mrs. Norma Goddson, a volunteer we have become used to, is pinch hitting as the activities director in Mrs. Pat Burk's absence. This is a hope to make hustlers of those residents who are not. One little game on Thursday had the interest of all of us - to guess how many scarlet runner beans in a bottle. The prize was unique, a flashlight needing no bulb or battery and won by no other. We can look under the bed at night if something disturbs us.

Our gracious Mrs. Marilyn Stouffer was unable to M.C. the monthly birthday party in the afternoon, but it went gay and smooth as Mrs. Jean Cummings and Mrs. Donna Dillon of the staff took over, the reliable Mrs. Betty Salvatore, pianist, and our Mr. Charles Plewman harmonica. He also gave us a couple of solos. After about all of the old favourites were gaily sung, the banana cake with delightful topping was ushered in with the tea and coffee to punctuate a really gay time. Mrs. Lila Simmons, Walter Fogg, Mrs. Evelyn Anderson and Mrs. Noreen Stevens are now a year older.

Lieut. Ron Mailman with his guitar and officer, Mrs. Amelia Sibley, both of the Haliburton Salvation Army conducted our devotion period, Friday morning. The guitar was the accompaniment for our singing the old favourite spirituals. The text of his message "if we confess our sins to Him he is faithful to forgive us our sins. Our gracious Mary Currah served the after service snack of tea

Obituary:

Harold Henry Clarke

Harold Henry Clarke died Saturday, September 22, 1979, at his home in Bancroft. He was 65.

Born in Minden Township, he was the son of John and Alma Clarke, who farmed in the area. Following his father's death in 1927, Harold Clarke, at the age of 13, moved with his mother and two younger sisters to Snowdon Township. He worked in lumber camps and at the Standard Chemical plant in Donald until the plant closed. He then went to Toronto where he worked for Dominion Stores until he became ill in 1954. He returned to Snowdon Township and drove a mail truck.

In 1970, he married Eva Leach and moved to Bancroft for the remainder of his life.

Surviving are his wife Eva, sister Florence (Mrs. Robert Walker), three nephews and one niece. He was predeceased by his mother in 1952, an infant sister Muriel in 1916, and sister Irene (Mrs. Charlie Shaw), in 1953.

The funeral was held at John Welch and Son Funeral Home in Minden. Funeral service was conducted by United Church minister Rev. Don Nicholson. Interment was in Ingoldside cemetery.

Palbearers were Everette Burke, Murray Wruth, Carl Dugan, Cecil Burke, Frank Howe and Henry Howe.

Guild Member Named "Highlander of the Year"

Congratulations are extended to Carole Finn recently named "Highlander of the Year". As Guild members we have always acknowledged and appreciated Carole's hard work and dedication, in seeing through a dream conceived years ago with the founding of the "School of Fine Arts". Her enthusiasm and leadership have set an example, that has drawn and kept us united, in what seemed, at times, unseemingly odds in order to see the completion of the "Rails' End Gallery".

We as Guild members, and residents of Haliburton County have benefited greatly through her selflessness. We applaud you, Carole Finn.

Standards for Handweaving
In this the third of our series on quality crafts, we will deal with the art of handweaving. Clothing construction, rugs and other hand-woven articles.

Design: The craftsman although utilizing traditional designs is also being encouraged to develop original designs. The design and material must be suitable to the stated purpose of the piece. i.e.: soft wools would not be used in placemats that need body and strength for repeated washings and use. i.e.: long overshot threads in an article that may catch and pull during use.

Harmony of colour and materials: The use of colours that will not bleed into one another. Correct use of materials - you would not blend cotton and fine wools in an article of clothing as each shrinks to a different degree, causing an uneven and warped surface.

Construction: All materials should be of good quality. Errors in threading and treadling not acceptable. The beating must be even, except where justified by design. i.e.: lace weaves and wall hangings. Unsightly joints, threads and knots marring surface, front or back not acceptable.

Rug Construction: as this is usually an expensive item to buy and in the majority of cases it can double as a wall hanging, its construction is of utmost importance. If used as a rug, the warp should be a heavy linen rug warp, weft firmly beaten, or if knotted i.e. rya rug, each row secured by several firm rows of tabby weave. The pile, or face surface of carpet should be carpet wool (specially treated for wear, usually hard twist wool or synthetic blend) or heavy pure wool.

Clothing construction: Jackets or coats hand-woven can be made in a variety of weights. The craftsman will ask you to specify as to indoor or outdoor use. In choosing a pattern or fabric design the craftsman will supply a woven sample of the finished product for your inspection before attempting the jacket itself. As wools are expensive, novelty wools more so than some others, the weaver will in most cases ask your preference quoting a price before she begins. As there is the same amount of work entailed in warping a $5 sample as there is in two yards of fabric, not counting weaving and final construction, it is inevitable that this is usually an expensive craft.

Finishing: Good handfinishing is always preferable, but where machine stitching is used, it must be neat, well done, and not detract from the design. The best available findings suitable to the article should be used. In handwoven articles, commercial trim applied to the finished piece as decoration is not acceptable. Woolen yardage to be "pre-shrunk" and "blocked". The weaver must stipulate whether the article has been "pre-shrunk" or not "pre-shrunk", and instructions as to washing and cleaning provided with the finished piece. In wall hangings or carpets, it is preferable that they be treated with a scotchguard finish or if washable - tagged as such.

As in all handcrafted items, it is usually personal taste that prevails, but a well crafted item if cared for will last a life-time.

Christmas in the Gallery

As this will be our first Christmas in the Rails' End Gallery, we are hoping that it will be a memorable one. A large tree will be set up within the Gallery and with it we are endeavouring to start our own tradition. We would like all our craftspeople to create a Christmas tree decoration for it. Would it not be a spectacular sight? A Christmas tree, reminiscent of days gone by when all the decorations were made by the loving hands of craftspeople.

Monday morning we began another week of activity at Hyland Crest with fun and fitness. We exercised our bodies to music, and everyone was in good voice when we sang our opening songs. Mrs. Deumo ended up the winner in a game of darts, after a play-off with Mr. Robinson. The session was ended with kick the ball, which helps keep the mind as well as the body alert.

Later, after lunch, the ladies went to the craft room to work on their several different projects. The date has been set for the Christmas Auxiliary Bazaar for November 14. Everyone is working together to prepare for it, and make it a successful event again this year. I'd like to take this opportunity to thank the auxiliary members for all the kind things they do for the residents at Hyland

Crest. Monday evening was movie time in the auditorium. The Living Lakes, was filmed in Kenya, East Africa. We were taken on a visit to a lake in Kenya, where the surrounding land is hot, dry desert. Many different species of bird life exist there, and there is an enormous amount of food in the lake which makes it possible for

by Barbara Maund

Our congratulations to Vallinda (Mrs. Larry) Madill who had the good fortune to have her grocery cash tape drawn at the Norland Red and White store on Saturday, October 13. She will receive $48.54 in free merchandise. Everyone who fills in an entry form at the store and deposits the form in the specially marked entry box also has a chance to win a 1980 Mustang Ghia automobile. The contest ends Saturday, November 10 and four winners will be drawn in Toronto on Friday, November 23.

A delighted grandmother is Mrs. Enid LeGraw with the happy arrival of a new granddaughter Christa Rose, born on October 7, at the North Western Hospital, Toronto to Robert and Heather LeGraw.

Coboconk Lions Club met in the Coboconk Community Hall for its dinner meeting on Thursday, October 18. District Governor, Gordon Forgie of Markham was the special guest and following dinner, prepared and served by Lions Ed Holland, John Rocco and Joe Heffer, new Lion member Ken Bowins was inducted. The Lions would welcome interested men who would like to become part of this great organization. They meet the first and third Thursday evening of every month except July and August when only one dinner meeting a month is held. For further information call president Ted Garrels 454-8131 or contact a Lion member.

Don't forget Wednesday, October 31 is Halloween and it is a popular and busy time for young people to be out calling at your door for a special treat. Unfortunately Eastern Standard time will be with us as Saturday, October 27 is the night that you turn your clocks back one hour. This means that it will be dark that much earlier so special precautions should be taken to insure that the youngsters can see and be seen as they walk up and down and across the streets. Let's hope that the older youth will show good sense this year and have fun without destroying property and causing unnecessary damage.

Although Tuesday, October 16 was Home and School at Norland Public School, a previously arranged meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary, Fire-fighters Association and the Community Centres Board representatives took place in the Norland Community Hall at 8:00 p.m. Several of the parents were able to meet the teachers at the school and then come to the community hall.

Fae Quinn, President of Ladies Auxiliary chaired the discussion concerning the requisition of funds that had been raised presumably with a kitchen addition to the hall in mind. The ladies voted at an earlier meeting not to construct a larger hall kitchen at this time because so many money raising events for which a kitchen is needed, are in the summer months when most of the Ladies Auxiliary members are too busy to help with these occasions.

Mike Riordan representing the Norland Athletic Club reported that their group had a Wintario Grant of $1800 plus a similar amount to be raised by the Athletic Club and table tennis, badminton and archery equipment had been purchased. If agreeable to all, the community hall would be the center where all ages could come and without charge make use of it. Date and times must still be finalized.

Subject to the approval of the by-law enforcement officer, the Ladies Auxiliary agreed to pay for the painting and installation of ceiling tiles and proper lighting of the hall basement where some of the aforementioned equipment can be stored and used.

All of the groups agreed to leave their funds in the bank to draw further interest until more definite needs were found for it.

Norland Bowling Club team standings as of game 6, October 17: teams of Wanda Landry - 30 points, Mike McAllister - 27 points, Trent Watson - 19 points, Jim Boyce - 11 points and Peter Purcell - 6 points. Ladies high single - Michelle Angiers 221, High Triple - Della Howard 582 and High Average - Betty Davey and Wanda Landry, 157. Men's High Single and Average - Bob Copeland 278, 209 and High Triple - Harry Smith 612.

Norland Leathercraft group held the draw for their tickets recently sold, at the euchre in Coboconk on Tuesday, October 9. Lucky first prize winner of an attractive leather picture was Doreen West, a cottager from Don Mills. Marvin Lee of Parry Sound and son-in-law of Mrs. Dorothy Brown won the second prize - a wallet and Mrs. Leona Fountain of Hilton Point Road was third prize winner of a key case. The group would like to thank everyone who purchased tickets and helped with this endeavour. The next meeting of the leathercraft group is at the home of Mrs. Hilda Chynoweth, on highway 503, east of Norland at 8:00 p.m. on Thursday, October 25. Any interested new members are invited to attend.

Another date to remember is Saturday, October 27 and the Ladies Auxiliary Halloween Dance in Norland Community Hall from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Gary Peters and his group will be on hand to supply toe tapping music so find a costume and join your friends at this gala fun time. Tickets are $8 a couple with prizes for the best and most original dress-ups.

Despite several changes to the Haliburton Guild of Fine Arts over the past few months, Guild members are still doing what they enjoy most; crafting. Shown above is Doreen Elstone molding a pot at the Lakeview Centre recently.

Blanche and Maurice Windsor have left for the sunny south to spend the winter and once again I will endeavour to report the local news.

Sympathy of the community is extended to Fred Olan and family on the death of a wife and mother.

Don't forget the annual meeting of the Haliburton County Chapter of the Association for Children with Learning Disabilities to be held in Minden on Thursday evening at 8 p.m. Please come out and support us.

Best wishes to Royce Harrison who is in Peterborough Civic Hospital.

A good crowd was in attendance at the Minden Minor Hockey Masquerade Dance last Saturday. The costumes were terrific with first prize for costumes going to Mr. and Mrs. Frankenstein.

Don't forget - we gain back that hour that we lost last spring - this weekend -

Only a couple of weeks remain until the annual deer hunt. Many gangs are getting their hunting camps in order.

Chatting with Irene

by Irene Moore

October has to be the most unpredictable month of this year. First we have that awful snow storm and this past weekend thunderstorms and rain, rain, rain, just when we least expect it. Oh well, my blue jays are back and are they lazy birds. They are at the food box every morning early and if there are no seeds out I get a good scolding but now I have become smart. I put the seeds out before I go to bed so when they come in the morning their food is there. There are some other tiny birds coming as well but they wait until later in the day. One thing I didn't see this fall were the grosbeaks. Usually we have a whole flock of them, but so far none.

I was talking to Opal Crowe last week and she was telling me what a wonderful time she and Don had in New Zealand and Australia. They, along with 96 other Canadians, were there for Kin International Convention. Their flight home ended in Los Angeles so they stayed there for a while and visited with her cousin, Ivan Cox and his wife and did a bit of sight seeing, then came home. How wonderful these trips can be to see parts of the world one might otherwise not see.

Don't forget the L.O.B.A. card party at the Minden Orange Hall next Monday evening at 8 p.m. Euchre and cribbage are the games.

Mrs. Maude Coulter spent last week with the Ray Rivers of Downsview.

Have you noticed that several places in town have been having a facelift or is it a building lift? Floyd Hall

Insurance has had work done on the front of the building and it is lovely. The municipal building is being bricked all around and is done so far up now. The Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce also is being painted.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Deacon have returned home after a visit with Pat and Rick in Calgary.

There was a good attendance from Minden Women's Institute at the District W.I. tea and sale in Fenelon Falls United Church last Wednesday. Our W.I. had a bazaar table display. They also sent food for the bake table and tea.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hurtt spent the weekend in Toronto.

Carol Evans from Minden Red & White has been in Wales on a month's holiday. Carol came from Wales a few years ago and found Minden to her liking, so stayed. She is the niece of Mrs. Stella Burch.

Northland Sales is certainly improving the inside of the store. When one walks in and goes to the left there is a long, lovely, stretch of brightly lit area, in which one can find so many items. If you have not already been in to see it be sure and visit. The welcome is for all to look around.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Robinson spent last Thursday visiting with Waldron Clement in Seabright. Mr. Clement is now 90 years young, living in his own home and keeping fairly good health. Mr. and Mrs. Clement used to live in Minden.

Minden & District Horticultural Society was well represented at the district convention in Port Hope. Tom Farmer of Lindsay was one of the speakers and as some of our members remembered Tom, they enjoyed his talk very much.

Don't forget that next Wednesday is the evening all the wee goblins, ghosts, etc. will be on the streets so regardless of the weather, do keep an eye wide open if you are driving and please do not spoil their fun evening in any way.

Hey folks, there is an ice cream parlor and other things at the Minden bake shop on main street. You can get sit-down meals also. Do go in and see for yourself.

Adios and take care now.

Street people are feet people.
They're neat people who meet people.
Why not join up? Take a walk.

Fitness is fun.
Try some. PARTICIPATION

On Tuesday, October 16, the Monmouth Senior Citizens, following their usual routine, met at the hall and enjoyed tea, coffee and cookies before setting out for Graham's Shell restaurant in Gooderham. This is a favourite eating place for the group and 57 members and visitors sat down to dinner. A good time was had by all and, in part, it was a way of wishing bon voyage to those of the members who would soon be going south for the winter.

Keep in mind the Monmouth Senior Citizens' bazaar that will be held on Saturday, November 3. Doors opening at 1:00 p.m. There is a great deal of work attached to the planning of the Christmas bazaar and it is to be hoped that the residents of the community will come out and show their support as they have in previous years.

There was joy in the village at the news of the birth of Lisa Maria Finlay who is now a couple of weeks old. She is the daughter of John and Shirley Finlay and weighed in at five pounds, four ounces. The proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Warren Bowen of Wilberforce and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Finlay of Tory Hill. Congratulations to John and Shirley on this happy addition to their home.

'Inflation is when everybody who retired on a fixed income is in the same boat - the Titanic.'

We send greetings and get well wishes to Mrs. Elsie Burk who is a patient in Wellesley Hospital in Toronto. I understand that she has undergone knee surgery and will remain in hospital for several weeks.

On Saturday, October 13, the Knox United church was the scene of a christening conducted by Rev. J. Braham of Dwight, when Blair Kelly, infant daughter of Darryl and Wanda Ford of Scotia was baptized. The Godparents were Fred and Ann Nickason of Sarnia. Also attending the event were the grandparents Elwood Sawyer of Hamilton, Joe and Jessie Ford of Washago, Don and Janet of Huntsville and great grandparents, Hector and Marcella McKay of Dorset. After the ceremony a reception at the McKay home was held for friends and relatives from Sarnia, Sudbury, Washago, Niagara Falls, Hamilton, St. Catharines, Huntsville, Dwight, Scotia and Toronto.

Near midnight Wednesday the local fire department was called to a fire on the Narrows road. A cottage belonging to a Mr. Rashid of Toronto was burned to the ground. The cottage was uninhabited at the time. The fire department was complimented for the speed with which they responded to the call but the fire had developed too far along for them to save the building.

We are happy to report that we are going to have scouting for boys started in the village in the near future. Doug Cunningham, representative for the area held an 'interest' meeting on Monday of last week and a committee was formed. The committee, chaired by Mike Buss of the Frost Centre met on Thursday. It was decided there would be a registration date, set for Monday, October 29 at 6:30 p.m. at the Frost Centre. This is for the boys and their parents and will include Beavers, Cubs and Scouts so will take in boys of all ages. Boys from Baysville and Halls Lake are also invited to participate. More leaders are needed so anyone interested in the betterment of our young men are asked to come to the registration night. For particulars call Mike Buss at 56-2913.

Recent visitors at the home of Hector and Marcella McKay were Helen and John Glen and Dick and Noreen Isles of Niagara Falls, Dick and Lorna Bray of St. Catharines, Gunter and Ursula Thase and family of Thornhill.

The Dorset Lions Club will be holding their annual Halloween party in the Dorset Community Centre on Wednesday, October 31 at 7:00 p.m. so get your costumes ready as there will be prizes and treats for all.

Recycle it!

by Jane Seibler

Here's a few miscellaneous canning and freezing ideas to consider if it's one of your major summer and fall time pastimes.

When thawing out your chest freezer, you can cut the difficult job of standing on your head to reach the corners. Buy a squeegee mop sponge to fit on to your floor mop. Clean out the bottom, and sides squeezing the water into a pail. Save the sponge in a bag just for this use each time.

Paraffin wax from the top of jams and jelly can be washed and remelted for next years jamming. Collect them in a tin box or bottle - mice love to nibble wax.

Save your foil scraps and wrap around sharp bones when preparing them for the freezer. It protects them against punctures when jostled in the freezer.

Nylon mesh bags from fruit or turkeys will keep small packages together in the freezer. Margarine, herbs, or small quantities of any items will stay together and handy for easy detection.

Store extra icing in containers and freeze. When two or three kinds are collected, top the next batch of cupcakes. You'll have several flavour types which will look like you salvaged over them to offer the variety.

Take advantage of the of the plentiful supply of apples in season. Peel and pare, mix with flour, sugar and cinnamon and place in pie plates. Place in a bag and freeze. When frozen remove them from the pie plates. Return to the bag and freezer. When needed you simply slip preparation into your pie shells and bake.

Mrs. L. McCarey says that white water marks on furniture can be removed by rubbing the area with a broken walnut. This is especially useful when marks are reasonably new.

Mrs. Mary Robertson of Haliburton sends ideas for old tea and the bags. 1. Use cool tea for watering household plants. 2. Use the leaves removed from the bags for compost added to the soil of your houseplants. 3. If you suffer from tired eyes, place two cool bags over eyelids and relax for a few minutes. 4. Add a little brewed tea to roast drippings for easy browning. 5. Soak washed prunes in brewed tea, add juice from any canned fruit you have left over instead of adding sugar.

Have you some recycling ideas? Our contest ends October 31. Send your entry in to win $15.00 to Recycle It!, Haliburton Echo, Box 360, Haliburton, K0M 1S0.

Dysart council holds regular meeting

At the October meeting of Dysart et al council, the following matters were considered:

General accounts totalling $206,109.46, road accounts totalling $52,445.17 and social services totalling $5,740.08 were approved for payment.

Morley Clarke will be advised that the 30 feet on Young's Point is not available at this time, however, if it were disposed of it would have to be by public tender, as other property owners in this area may have an interest in this parcel.

Deiter Dahlke will be advised that provided his property is rezoned Tourist Commercial, council has no objection.

The planning supervisor was authorized to complete the Ministry of Housing questionnaire on draft plan of subdivision No. 46T-79150 (John Petis, Hamilton, Ontario) in the affirmative.

The planning supervisor was also authorized to complete the Ministry of Housing questionnaire on draft plan of subdivision No. 46T-79140

(H. C. Bishop - In Trust) in the affirmative. E. Gruber (Jagdsafari) was given permission to erect a sign "Lots For Sale" on the Harburn Road.

Council authorized the reeve to deputize the Haliburton Fire Department members for Halloween night.

The Ontario Municipal Board will be advised that By-law No. 77-32, as amended by By-law No. 79-36, is in conformity with the Official Plan for the Dysart Planning Area.

By-law No. 79-42, a by-law to amend By-law No. 79-9 and to designate the CNR station of historical and architectural value or interest was passed. By-law No. 79-43, a by-law to license, regulate and govern transient traders in the united Townships of Dysart, Dudley, Harcourt, Guilford, Harburn, Bruton, Havelock, Clyde and Eyre, was also passed, as was By-law 79-44, a by-law re: the Connecting Link Agreement.

Non-smokers bowling scores

by Ev Stata

The Easy Rollers rolled easily over the short-handed Kleenaires, taking all seven points and putting them in the lead with 15 points, while the Nicky-Teens split with the Quitters four to three. The Teeners now have 12, the Kleenaires have nine and the Quitters have six.

Debra Harding had the high triple of 644 (246,211), Wes Stata had 632 (254, 223), Ken Piper had 607 (231, 201) and Bob Webb had 605 (247, 210).

High single games seem to be scarce this season with only Clara Vuksic hitting 234.

Come on, you non-smokers, we need some more bowlers to fill up the league. We are starting at 9 p.m. now and on Tuesday nights.

HALIBURTON IGA MARKET

Haliburton Highlights

by Creighton Feir

Some of the Bancroft Junior hockey players were in Haliburton trying to get in shape for the coming hockey season by attending public skating held at the local arena on Sunday. The ice is not in the Bancroft arena at this point. The Bancroft Oldtimers hockey team are also working out at the arena in Haliburton. They have held three practices up to this time.

John J. G. Connors, Executive Director of the Five Counties Children's Centre in Peterborough was the guest speaker at the weekly meeting of the Rotary Club of Haliburton held at the United Church here last Thursday evening. John gave a visual presentation and described the work and financial obligations of the centre. Everyone present enjoyed the talk and slides.

The Haliburton Laundromat is now open daily from 12:30 p.m. to 10:00 p.m.

The District Governor Aubrey Oldham will be paying his visit to the Rotary Club of Haliburton this Thursday night, October 25.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Fajar, Mr. and Mrs. Brant Stamp, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Edwards and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Griffin were in Las Vegas recently as guests of International Harvester. They were representing Boice Motor Sales Limited.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Jackson and family are preparing to move to Espanola, Ontario. Ken will continue to work for the Ministry of Natural Resources there.

Where he battled death and pain,
E'er shall linger in the Highlands,
Memories sweet of Dr. Frain.

Still in vision we shall see him
Leave the fireside warm and bright;
Journey to the distant dwelling,
Through the stormy winter night.

Cheer the sick room with his presence,
Ease the restless fevered brain;
Reassure the lonely watchers,
Face the winter night again.

Though the skillful hands are folded
And the earthly eyes are dim;
We'll revere the name of "Doctor",
Ever when we think of him.

Till we hear the Great Physician,
Call the dead to life again:
There shall linger in the Highlands
Memories sweet of Doctor Frain.

- Contributed by Mary E. Robertson from the book of "Poems and scenes of the Highlands", written by the late Burleigh Wallace.

Mrs. Arnold Dugan of Eucluleet, Vancouver Island and Miss Lorraine Dugan of Vancouver, B.C. were recent visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Earle Casey.

We have just been informed that the Haliburton Squash Club will be holding a car rally for members only on November 3. It will be a 100-mile drive through the countryside and besides being a fund-raising activity it will also give the members who will be participating an opportunity to socialize with each other during the day.

COTA meeting held recently in Peterborough

Marketing was at the top of the agenda at an all-day meeting of the Board of Directors of the Central Ontario Travel Association (COTA) held recently at Ennismore Inn and Resort near Peterborough. This was the first of several meetings which will be held to develop a marketing strategy for the 1980-81 fiscal year which begins next April 1. The marketing plan must be submitted to the Ministry of Industry and Tourism for approval prior to December 31, 1979.

Publications will continue to provide the main source of information for tourist and prospects. Mass distribution of a lure folder and print media advertisements will be used to invite the more comprehensive information booklet. The booklet will also be distributed through the network of government and privately owned information centre throughout the province.

A joint group promotion involving the six Southern Ontario Travel Associations is being considered by COTA. The proposal recommends the hiring of two ambassadors, equipped with audio visual equipment and material, who will spend four months next year travelling throughout the bordering United States selling southern Ontario to groups, travel agents, etc. The plan is still under review by the six travel association managers.

Information Centres play a large part in tourism promotion. Two new locations are being considered by the board although expansion of this program is dependent on the availability of counsellors from the Ontario government's Youth Secretariat Job Experience Program.

Co-op funding with regional tourist council will continue in 1980-81 on approved programs.

Other promotion and advertising areas to be considered are sportsmen's and mall shows, a periodic newsletter and radio advertising.

COTA's Board of Directors consists of representatives from the six regions within its boundaries. Attending the meeting were: president, George Lyons, Highlands of Hastings; treasurer, Gordon Bennett, Highlands of Hastings; director, Bob Stinson, Haliburton Highlands; second vice president, Bill Smith, Haliburton Highlands; executive director, Bud Tress, Great Pine Ridge; director, Tom Parks, Great Pine Ridge; executive director, Peter Blundell, The Region of York; director, John Sibbald, The Region of York; director, Martin Brough, Quinte's Isle; director, John West, Quinte's Isle; first vice president, Stu McIntosh, Kawartha Lakes; director, Bill Bell, Kawartha Lakes. Guests included, Barbara Bolin, Haliburton Highlands;

Harvey Brydon, Highlands of Hastings; Ken Wilcox, Highlands of Hastings, Ross Weiland, Kawartha Lakes.

Three appointed to adjustment committee

Three people were appointed to form a committee of adjustment for Monmouth Township at a meeting October 1.

Eldon Sibley was appointed for a term expiring January 1, 1980. Harold Herlihy was appointed to January 1, 1981, and Ross Anderson will sit on the committee until January 1, 1982. Committee members will receive $25 per meeting, mileage to and from the meetings, as well as mileage for site inspections, council decided.

In other matters, council authorized the clerk to advise the Ministry of Housing that upon receipt of the Ministry's letter of September 21, 1979, council may repeal portions of, or all of, By-law 78-6 and the amending by-law 79-17. The by-laws will be repealed, if necessary at a council meeting November 5. A copy of the resolution confirming council's intentions will be forwarded to the Ministry of Housing.

The bid from Madill Plumbing and Heating for the sanitation facilities at the municipal shed in Tory Hill was accepted in the amount of $2,995.

General accounts of $35,606.57, welfare payroll of $1154.39, and OHRP voucher of $4,914.70 were approved for payment.

Road accounts for September in the amount of $5,358.14 were also approved for payment.

An appeal for rezoning of Part Lot 21, Concession 17 was accepted. It will be processed after the Ontario Municipal Board has accepted the zoning by-law, council noted.

Council also decided to accept an application from Ken Sanderson for rezoning on Part Lot 33, Concession 15 from hamlet residential to commercial for business and professional office use only. The fee for application to the committee of adjustment will be $50, council decided. Council also decided to ask the Ministry of Natural Resources to restock lakes in the township.

Council will meet again November 5.

Van ransacked, investigation continues

Investigation is continuing into a theft from a van parked at Red Pine Lake dam that occurred Saturday night or early Sunday morning.

The van, owned by David A. Stinson of Toronto, was left near the dam overnight, and when Stinson returned to it Sunday morning, he found it had been entered. Stolen were cassette tapes, a motorcycle helmet, a CB radio and an antenna valued at $914.

Eye on Sports

tradition of these great sportswriters and quiz makers, have made up for you accumulators of baseball garbage. (1) How many times did Rusty Staub cut his hair during his first season with the Montreal Expos? (2) Which team broke up Madame Foo-Foo's massage parlour while in New York during a four-game series with the Mets this year? (3) What famous player got his athletic supporter caught in the dug-out bat rack and had to be treated for serious groin injuries during the 1925 World Series? (4) How many times has Pete Rose done an Aqua-Velva commercial? (5) Who has the worst manners in American League baseball?

The answers to these questions, fans, will appear after this brief pause for station identification...

...From the field to the ice, we turn our attention to the Haliburton Figure Skating Club which will be holding a skate-a-thon on November 2 and 3, in association with the Kinsmen Club of Haliburton. The event is open to anyone, and sponsor sheets can be picked up here at the office, or from any of the three schools in the village. For children, the skating times will be between four and six o'clock on Friday and Saturday, and six to seven for adults on Saturday. So it doesn't matter how old you are, as long as you've still got the stuff. The event is for a good cause, and you might even have some fun, so why not find a sponsor?...

...Minor hockey in Haliburton is now underway, as the OMHA Midgets played the first game of the season in the league on Monday night. The boys played a good game, I was told, beating Manvers by a score of 5 to 2. Big Tony Scheffee came up with two goals in the game. In Minden, the season for hockey gets going on November 1, though all teams are getting in as much practice time as possible before then. Schedules for both Haliburton and Minden will be published in upcoming issues...

...The Haliburton Squash Club is continuing to look for prospective players. I guess everyone's playing the same person over there, and it tends to get a little monotonous, especially when you're the worst player in the club. If you're interested in playing, call the curling club and find out who you can call to either learn to play, or how to join the club itself. Why not? It's just like playing tennis indoors except you're hitting a ball against a wall, you're in a smaller playing area, you sweat much harder and your opponent sometimes accidentally smacks your head with his tiny racket. Other than that, it's the same as tennis, only different...

...There's been good jogging weather lately, and you can always tell when the would-be marathoners are out in full force around here. There's a trail of stethoscopes along highway #121, and the road shoulders are scorched with blackened footprints. The running doctors have struck again...

Oakville man charged with borrowing gun

An Oakville man has been charged with borrowing a firearm without a Firearm Acquisition Certificate, an offence under the Criminal Code, after he was apprehended by a Conservation Officer from the Ministry of Natural Resources.

Shane K. Farrell, 21, was discovered hunting without a licence near Red Pine Lake landing, October 14.

A 12 gauge pump shotgun which Farrell had borrowed from his brother and a 410 gauge bolt action shotgun borrowed from a friend were seized.

Farrell could not produce a Firearm Acquisition Certificate for either weapon.

Enters house, man charged

A 19-year-old RR 1, Minden man has been charged with unlawfully being in a dwelling house after a home owner found a lock had been pried off his back door and that a person was in an upstairs bedroom.

The house, on the Boundary Road west of Kilmount is owned by William Bluet of Toronto.

Bluet came to the house early Sunday morning, discovered the damaged lock and found an individual sitting on an upstairs bed.

Charged with unlawfully being in a dwelling was Glen E. Chalmers, 19 of RR 1, Minden.

Chalmers was arrested, and is scheduled to appear in court, November 13.

the birds to survive. It was interesting to note that not many mammals live there. The zebra and hippo are the most common, as they can endure the desert area.

Hot Dog Skiers was filmed in Idaho in 1972. We were shown the different styles of skiing in competition and exhibition. Ballet style consists of creative dance steps. Each skier has his own particular style. Freestyle consists of speed, strength, bruising and physical competition. Aerial acrobatics shows the acrobat on skis. He can fly into the air with the greatest of ease and do many different stunts. Both of these films were very good and those who watched said how much they enjoyed their afternoon watching the movies.

Tuesday morning, Rev. Douglas Miller of the United Church in Minden, was with us for an inspiring service in the chapel. Agnes Taylor accompanied us on the organ while we sang our praises to God.

On Tuesday afternoon we were privileged to play host to the residents of the Thompson House from Don Mills. These very warm and friendly people were invited for lunch and we gathered in the auditorium for a sing song afterwards.

Mr. James Pratt, who is over 80 years old, volunteered to lead the sing song and he has a really lovely voice. Mr. William Vanson, who is also a resident of Thompson House, expressed his thanks to Hyland Crest for the beautiful home-cooked meal, and told us that he worked for 30 years for the Toronto City Police and 20 years as deputy sheriff for the County of York.

Mr. Stan Alford, who looks remarkably like Colonel Sanders, said he would like to see an exchange program come into effect, so he could spend a couple of weeks at Hyland Crest for his summer holidays. He also told us that he is going to play the part of Colonel Sanders on Halloween night at his home, and he won't even need a mask. These were just some of the very delightful people who came to visit. We enjoyed their company very much, and hope it is possible to have them visit us again.

Mrs. Ruth Thompson of Lutterworth Estates added greatly to the festivities with her fine piano playing. We were most happy to have her play for us, while we sang some old favourite songs.

Wednesday was a regular day with fun and fitness in the morning and crafts in the afternoon.

We spent an enjoyable afternoon on Thursday with the ladies of the A.C.W. from Kilmount. They brought an abundance of delicious goodies for our Thursday tea party. Everyone turned out in full force to partake of a lovely assortment of sandwiches and squares.

Thursday evening the Kinsmen were on hand to call the numbers for our weekly bingo. We had a few lucky winners and a few losers, but everyone thoroughly enjoyed the game.

Friday was a special day for Niilo Mankinen who celebrated his birthday. "Nick" was presented with a decorated birthday cake and everyone joined together to sing, Happy Birthday.

In the afternoon, Grace Colburne led the sing song accompanied by Lucille Clarke on the piano. Singing some favourite hymns and old time songs was a delightful way to end another week of fun at Hyland Crest.

Hyland Crest tea and bazaar will be held November 14

Hyland Crest's annual tea and bazaar will be held in the auditorium of the home on Wednesday, November 14 from 1 to 4 p.m.

Plans this year are for more and better items to help stuff stockings Christmas eve. Residents of the home will staff the bazaar table which will offer their own hand-made gift articles. These, along with items offered for sale by members of the Hyland Crest Auxiliary, are expected to make the event well worth attending.

A tea room will be provided so visitors can relax after they have completed their shopping. All proceeds from the event will be used for the comfort and entertainment of the residents. Donations to the sale, baked goods, white elephants, costume jewelry, etc., will be gratefully accepted. Gifts for sale can be taken into the home Tuesday evening, November 13 or Wednesday morning, November 14.

Those wishing a pickup of items can call Aileen Bears at 286-2351.

Park will be opened Saturday

Glamorgan Participark will be officially opened on Saturday, October 27, 1979 at 4:00 p.m. in Gooderham by John Ekins M.P. The Kinsmen Club of South Algonquin have spent months working on the development of the project and will officially turn Participark over to the township at the opening.

The opening is being held in conjunction with the Kinsmen Fall Interclub which is being sponsored this year by the South Algonquin Club.

27. THANK YOU

Our sincere thanks to friends, neighbours and relatives, for flowers, gifts of food and many acts of kindness, in the sudden death of our father and grandfather, Chessel Sisson.
We are especially grateful to Stuart Wilson, travelling quite a distance to give a warm and meaningful message; Alice Jones and Mary Barry who prepared the lunch and everyone who took time to be with us.
God bless you all.
27-P-24

We would like to thank Stewart Wilson for his kind words. Mr. Monk and staff, also, Margaret Sisson for playing the organ. Everyone for the beautiful floral tributes. The ladies that helped provide and serve the lunch in the recent passing of Chessel Sisson. Thank you.
Arthur and Phyllis Sisson
27-P-24

We would like to express our thanks to all our friends and relatives for making our 60th anniversary such a special occasion. Many thanks for the lovely cards, flowers and telegrams and especially for all your good wishes.
Andy and Shirley Sisson
27-P-24

I wish to thank everyone for the gifts and kind wishes on the occasion of my 90th birthday, Wednesday, September 26th.

28. BIRTHS

who helped me into this world. Especially Dr. Pierce and Susan Bain, who were right there waiting for me and Dr. Hartwick, who, after nine months of care, had to miss my entrance. Thanks also to Marion Tailman and the entire Haliburton hospital staff. But above all, mom and I thank dad for everything from beginning to end. We love you, dad.

deregulation has been initiated. Parliament's Joint Standing Committee on Program Evaluation will be involved in this review. The government will soon be introducing "sunset" legislation, which will require government agencies to periodically justify their existence to Parliament. And the government will be ridding itself of obsolete product standards that prevent new products from coming onto market.

Program the plan provides guarantees for loans obtained through private lenders and a 5% subsidy to the interest rate for the first 5 years. The subsidy then decreases by 1 percent per year. This $18 million program, it is hoped, will help to provide the industry with the much improved facilities that visitors are demanding. For more information contact the Ministry of Industry & Tourism office at Huntsville, 705-789-4448.

Important Dates

On November 1, 2, and 3 the "Action Seminar on Acid Precipitation" is being held at the Holiday Inn (downtown) in Toronto. At least three delegates that we are aware of are attending from the Highlands. For more information call 416-463-9529.

On October 25 and 26 the Ontario Maple Syrup Producers are holding their annual meeting at the Leslie Frost Centre near Dorset and would be pleased to see anyone interested in this industry drop in and visit the meetings.

On November 19 and 20 Tourism Ontario is holding a fall conference at the Harbour Castle Hilton in Toronto featuring presentations from the top people in the industry. For more information call 416-922-6882.

On November 4 to 7 the Ontario Motel Association are holding their convention in Ottawa. For more information call 705-745-4982.

October 31 is closing date for the advertising copy in the Chamber's Winter Book. Sue Cooper is attempting to call on all interested Chamber members before that time. If you are interested and have not been contacted call the Chamber at 286-1760.

This Saturday, October 27 at 4:00 p.m. our provincial member, John Eakins will formally open the Participark in Gooderham. The South Algonquin Kinsmen Club has been working for three years to create this project which involves 11 exercise stations spaced around a 1 1/2 mile jogging circuit. The park is one of the most scenic of its kind as it surrounds and crosses the Burnt River. Following the opening the facilities will be turned over to the municipality by the Kinsmen.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Only one week left to take advantage of October specials. Save 10% on all air-tight stoves - 15% on chimneys.
